

Joyce Corchets for Patients

Joyce, who is partially sighted and has recently had cataract surgery has been making crochet blankets for the Dementia Buddy Team. The blankets are given to elderly patients and patients who have a cognitive impairment to be used as comforters. This helps when a patient is feeling agitated or nervous.

Joyce said "I have been making blankets and dresses for years, and this is a was nice way to be able to contribute to help others."

Matt Reilly, Dementia Buddy Coordinator said "The Dementia Buddy Team were overjoyed

Joyce Hanson aged 92, originally from the Falkland Islands but now a resident of North West Kent paid a visit to Darent Valley Hospital ton the 1st June to meet up with a thrilled Dementia Buddy Team.

to receive Joyce's handmade blankets; Joyce is proof that when it comes to crochet, age has no limits."
